

Nashville Newsflash

Dear Friend,

On your mark, get set, go!

May 2, 2008

Prayer Points:

- 1) Continued wisdom as we support and care for missionaries all over the world.
- 2) Our new missionary training in Hawaii the week of May 5.
- 3) Our home to sell in today's challenging real estate market.
- 4) Our boys to win another football game.

Family Updates:

- 1) Justin and Kobe are playing flag football. It's fun and funny.
- 2) Boy's are going to public school next year.
- 3) Paul is trying to lose 36 pounds. He's already lost 8.

Thank you for your faithful partnership!

Out of the "starting blocks" they go. It was exciting hosting and training our newest Every Nation Ministries missionaries (pictured right).

Each of these precious people is a testimony of God's grace. They'll be missionaries in strategic places all over the world. Combined with spiritual growth, and God's call, each stepped out in faith and responded to the need they see around them everyday.

For most missionaries to get to this point, it takes prayer, a courageous person and faithful partners like YOU. They represent the past labor of our existing missionaries and the generous love you invest everyday through your partnership and prayers.

From the bottom of our hearts, thank you. Thank you for your commitment to these missionaries and to Tina and I as we all play our part to reach the leaders of tomorrow. Without your partnership none of this would be possible.

BOTTOM ROW: Lynn, Elissa, Johanna and Bert

Here are the new runners!

Jermaine is a recent graduate of our school of campus ministry, will begin his missions work in Austin, Tx.

Laura will focus specifically on women's ministry at East Carolina University.

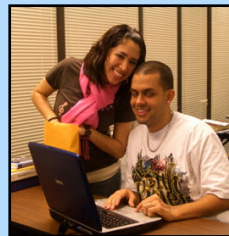

Elissa decided at our national college student rally that she would serve as a missionary at Texas State University.

Phil, another school of ministry graduate, will be a missionary at Southern Methodist University.

Octavias came to the Lord while in college and will start his missions work at Florida A&M University.

Joey and Johanna have a heart for the nations and desire to minister in South America.
